OBJECTS AND REASONS

It is imperative for The Gambia to carry out a thorough investigation of the human rights violations and abuses of the past 22 years. It is important to have an accurate and impartial historical record of the violations, document them for posterity to ensure that “never again” do we encounter a reoccurrence of such abuses.

The Truth, Reconciliation and Reparations Commission Bill seeks to establish a non-judicial mechanism for the investigation of violations and abuses of human rights in The Gambia between July 1994 and January 2017, in order to promote healing and reconciliation, respond to the need of victims, address impunity and prevent a repetition of the violations and abuses suffered. This Bill also seeks to establish and make known the fate or whereabouts of disappeared victims, provide victims an opportunity to relate their own accounts of the violations and abuses suffered as well as grant reparations to victims in appropriate cases.

Victims of human rights violations have a right to reparations as recognized under international law and Laws of The Gambia. This Bill reinforces the right not only to grant reparations but also restore the civil rights and dignity of victims.

The TRRC is envisaged to be an important vehicle for large-scale institutional, legal and administrative reforms in The Gambia. At the end of its operations, the Commission shall submit a report to the President of the Republic. The report will contain the findings and recommendations of the Commission, which are expected to strengthen and consolidate our burgeoning democracy.
