VANUATU

INTRODUCTION

by Professor Don Paterson

PRE-INDEPENDENCE

From 1906 until Independence on 30 July 1980, the New Hebrides, as Vanuatu was then called, was a condominium territory, jointly adminis-

(i) British Laws:
British laws applied to British nationals and the nationals of other countries who opted to be subject to British laws, called optants. These laws comprised:

- British Acts of Parliament and subsidiary legislation - which were stated to apply to overseas territories;

- British Acts of Parliament of "general application" - i.e.: whose terms were not confined to England, except to the extent that

- English rules of common law and equity - which applied except to the extent that they were inappropriate to the circumstances country;

- Queen's Regulations - made by the British High Commissioner of the Western Pacific (situated initially in Fiji and later in Solomon Islands) and by the British Resident Commissioner in the New Hebrides.

(ii) French Laws:

French laws applied to French nationals and the nationals of other countries who opted to be subject to French laws, called optants. These laws comprised:

- French Acts of Parliament and subsidiary legislation - which were stated to apply to overseas territories;

- French Acts of Parliament and subsidiary legislation - which were applied to the New Hebrides by the French High Commissioner Pacific, who was stationed in New Caledonia;

- Regulations - made by the French High Commissioner of the Pacific.

(iii) Joint Laws:

- Joint Regulations - made jointly by the British and French Resident Commissioners in New Hebrides applied to all residents of Hebrides, including indigenous New Hebrideans.

After 1977, Resolutions passed by the elected Representative Assembly, which was established in response to the growing movement for independence, were, when approved by the Resident Commissioners, enacted as Joint Regulations.
POST-INDEPENDENCE

Since Independence, on 30 July 1980, the laws of Vanuatu comprise:

- Constitution of Vanuatu - the supreme law;

- Acts of Parliament of Vanuatu;

- Joint Regulations in existence on 30 July 1980 - which continue in force until repealed by the Vanuatu Parliament (s. 95(1) Constitution);

- British and French laws in existence on 30 July 1980 - including Acts of Parliament, subsidiary legislation and English common equity, which continue in force until repealed by the Vanuatu Parliament (s. 95(2) Constitution);

- Customary laws of Vanuatu (s. 95(3) Constitution).
